

THIE Medical Professional Liability Insurance:

Keeping the Promise to Lower Costs

If a medical error occurred at your hospital, could you handle the consequences?

In 1975, the Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange was founded to provide medical professional liability coverage to hospitals. While THIE has now expanded its services not only to Oklahoma but to include all health care facilities, their commitment to subscribers has not changed.

THIE's comprehensive medical professional liability coverage protects subscribers against legal liability resulting from allegations of negligence due to medical incidents, errors and omissions, and other aspects of rendering or failing to render professional service to patients. THIE is committed to offering the most comprehensive coverage available, supported by proactive claims handling and expert risk management and loss control services.

Coverage is available for hospitals, including all their in-house services; free-standing facilities, such as nursing homes, assisted living facilities, ambulatory centers, clinics and health clubs; home health care services; and durable medical equipment sales and rentals. Various

Standard features include:

- Coverage issued on a claims-made basis;
- Defense in addition to policy limits;
- Automatic coverage for facility employees and medical staff, including medical directors (administrative only);
- Primary limits up to $1 million / $3 million;
- Unlimited tail; and
- Consent-to-settle provisions.

deductibles are available, as well as interest-free payment plans and options for prior acts.
